2.1 . Accounting period and accounting currency

Annual accounting period commences from 1st January and ends as at 31st December.

The Company maintains its accounting records in VND.

2.2 . Standards and Applicable Accounting Policies

Changes in Accounting Regime and Disclosures

On October 27, 2025, the Ministry of Finance issued Circular No. 99/2025/TT-BTC providing guidance on the Corporate Accounting Regime, effective from 01 January 2026 ("Circular 99"), replacing Circular No. 200/2014/TT-BTC dated December 22, 2014 ("Circular 200"). On 20 April 2026, the Ministry of Finance issued Circular No. 43/2026/TT-BTC ("Circular 43") amending and supplementing a number of articles of Circular No. 202/2014/TT-BTC, which provides guidance on the preparation and presentation of consolidated financial statements. Circular 43 is effective for the preparation and presentation of consolidated financial statements for financial years beginning on or after 1 January 2026.

The Company has applied the changes in accounting policies in accordance with Circular 99 and has also restated the corresponding figures of the prior period for certain items to conform with the presentation under Circular 99 in these consolidated financial statements, as disclosed in Note 41.

Other than the changes described above, the accounting policies adopted by the Company in the preparation of these consolidated financial statements are consistent with those applied in the preparation of the consolidated financial statements for the financial year ended 31 December 2025.

Declaration of compliance with Accounting Standards and Accounting System

The Company applies Vietnamese Accounting Standards and supplement documents issued by the State. Financial statements are prepared in accordance with regulations of each standard and supplement documents as well as with current Accounting Standards and Accounting System.

2.3 . Basis for preparation of Consolidated financial statements

Consolidated financial statements are prepared based upon consolidating Separate financial statements of the Company and its subsidiaries under its control as at for period from 01 January to 31 December annually.

Financial statements of subsidiaries are used consistent accounting policies of the Company. If necessary, adjustments are made to the Financial statements of subsidiaries to bring the accounting policies used in line with those used by the Company and its subsidiaries.

The results from operations of subsidiaries acquired or disposed during the period are included in the Consolidated financial statements from the effective date of acquisition or up to the effective date of disposal.

Balance, main incomes and expenses, including unrealized profits from intra-group transactions are eliminated in full from Consolidated financial statements.

2.4 . Financial Instruments

Financial assets

Financial assets of the Company include cash and cash equivalents, trade receivables and other receivables, lending, long-term and short-term investments. At initial recognition, financial assets are identified by purchasing price/issuing cost plus other expenses directly related to the purchase and issuance of those assets.

Financial liabilities

Financial liabilities of the Company include loans, trade payables, other payables and accrued expenses. At initial recognition and financial liabilities are determined by issuing price plus other expense directly related to the issuance of those liabilities.

Subsequent measurement after initial recognition

There are currently no regulations on revaluation of financial instruments after initial recognition.

2.5 . Foreign currency transactions

The foreign currency transactions during the period are converted into VND with the real exchange rate at the transaction date. Real exchange rates are determined as the following principles:

- For foreign currency transactions involving purchases and sales, the exchange rate applied is the rate specified in the foreign currency purchase and sale contracts between the Company and commercial banks;
- For transactions denominated in foreign currencies where the contract does not specify a particular exchange rate, the actual exchange rate at the transaction date is the average transfer buying and selling rate of the commercial bank with which the Company regularly transacts.

If the Company applies the actual transaction exchange rate as an approximate rate, the difference between this rate and the average transfer buying and selling rate does not exceed 1%.

Real exchange rate upon re-determining accounts derived from foreign currenciesat the date of the Consolidated Financial Statements is determined on the following principles:

- Monetary items denominated in foreign currencies with outstanding foreign currency balances are retranslated by the Company at the end of the accounting period by multiplying the foreign currency balance of each item by the difference between the exchange rate at the end of the period (based on the average transfer buying and selling rate of the commercial bank with which the Company regularly transacts) and the weighted average exchange rate for the period;
- For monetary items denominated in foreign currencies being demand deposits, the Company remeasures all foreign currency deposit account balances using the average transfer buying and selling rate of the commercial bank where the Company maintains its accounts at the end of the accounting period.

All sums of real exchange rates for foreign currency transactions in the period and real exchange rate upon re-determining accounts derived from foreign currencies at the end of the period are recorded immediately to results of business operations in accounting period.
